

CULTURES. SPACE is designed to diminish the racism between cultures. The idea is to increase exposure to various cultures to help people understand each other better. Starting from idioms, which is widely used in communications. Grouping idioms that have the same meaning but in different languages together and showing their literal meaning present the sense of each culture.

FINAL DESIGN

CULTURES.SPACE is a project that requires a combination of research, design, prototyping, data structure, and programming skills. I got the chance to practice the knowledge I learned in DES 157 and UI/UX and Data Structure skills I had. Through this project, I experience the whole process of developing a product. These boost efficiency of my product design skills and the strength of my product management skills.
